

I am firmly against reducing the controls on media ownership that are presently in force. As it is today there is little diversity of opinion and attention to local issues on TV and radio. Any further concentration of ownership can only make matters worse.